SPOKE FOR THE FLAG.

President Addressed Catholic Summer School.

A PATRIOTIC DEMONSTRATION.

Father Lavelle's Introductory Remarks and the Neat Demonstration That Followed Inspired the President to Make a Speech—Congressman Sibley Present.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 16.—President McKinley, accompanied by Private Secretary Cortelyou, was driven down to the anditorium on the grounds of the Catholic Summer School of America, at Cliff Haven, on Lake Champlain. American flags were much in evidence. He was given a warm greeting by the crowd.

As the president entered the Auditorium the spectators arose and sang a song composed for the occasion and set to the music of Danizetti's "El Puritani."

Rev. M. J. Lavelle, president of the Catholic summer school, introduced President McKinley. Father Lavelle's speech was frequently interrupted by hearty applause, and when during the course of his remarks he predicted that the "many millions of people recently brought under our protectorate would make American citizens as loyal, as sturdy and as true as those that are here today," the audience cheered enthusiastically.

As president McKinley arose the audience applauded, cheered, waved flags, handkerchiefs and parasols until he made a motion for them to desist. He had not intended to speak. But the warmth of the greeting which was accorded him evidently caused him to change his mind. He said:

Father Lavelle, Members of the Catholic Summer School, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I had not intended to say a word, but I can not sit in silence in the presence of this splendid demonstration of your good will and patriotism. I cannot forbear to give expression to my very high appreciation of the gracious welcome you have given me here today and the more than gracious words of commendation uttered by your president. Whatever the the government of the United States has been able to accomplish since I last met you here has been because the hearts of the people have been with the government of the United States. Our patriotism is neither sectional nor sectarian. We may differ in our political and religious beliefs, but we are united for country. Loyalty to the government is our national creed.

We follow, all of us, one flag. It symbolizes our purposes and our aspirations: it represents what we believe and what we mean to maintain, and, wherever it floats, it is the flag of the free, the hope of the oppressed and, wherever it is assailed, at any sacrifice it will be carried to a triumphant peace.

We have more flags here than we ever had before. They are in evidence everywhere. I saw them carried by the little ones on your lawn, and as long as they carry these flags in their little hands there will be patriotism in their hearts. That flag now floats from the homes of the millions, even from our places of worship; it is seen from our schoolhouses, from the shops, the factories, the mining towns, and it waves from the camp of the pioneer in the distant outpost and on the lumberman's hut in the dense forest. It is found in the home of the humblest toiler, and what it represents is dear to his heart. Rebellion may delay but it can never defeat its blessed mission of liberty and humanity. Thank you again for this most cordial and gracious greeting.

The president spoke slowly and deliberately, in a moderate but earnest tone. Only once nid he raise his voice, when he said that the "flag, wherever it is assailed, will be carried to a triumphant peace." The cheering which interrupted his speech at this point fairly shook the roof, and he was unable to make himself heard for nearly a minute.

At the close of the president's speech the audience joined in singing the "Star Spangled Banner," and they sang it with a will. The audience then formed in line and filed across the stage and shook hands with Mr. McKinley.

The president and Father Lavelle then left the building and walked around the grounds followed by the crowd. After they had inspected the grounds, the president and Mr. Cortelyou re-entered their carriage and were driven back to the hotel.

Among those who were present at the reception were: John S. Wise, General Guy V. Henry, Colonel Edmund Rice, Congressman Sibley of Franklin, Pa., Smith M. Weed, Monsignor James Laughlin, chancellor of the archdiocese of Philadelphia; Colonel William M. Brine of Wilmington, Del., and Rev. John P. Chidwick, former chaplain of the Maine.

GREAT MEN TO PREACH.

Bishop Fallows Arranging For a Notable Gathering of Churchmen In Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Bishop Samuel Fallows of the committee on religious exercises of the Chicago fall festival stated at a meeting of the general committee of the festival that if plans he had formed were carried out the world's most famous pulpit orators will preach in Chicago on Oct. 8, when the festival will close.

Famous churchmen from every state in the Union, as well as from Europe will be invited to come. Acceptances have already been received from a number of noted prelates of both Protestant and Catholic churches.

BRYAN THE CHIEF ATTRACTION.

Addressed Large Meetings In Iowa. Democratic Convention Today.

DES MOINES, Aug. 16.—The Democratic state convention convened here this morning. Two great meetings were held last evening, the main one at the Auditorium, where William J. Bryan spoke to 5,000 people, and the other at the Tabernacle, where General Weaver held forth for an hour until Bryan came from the first meeting. Some 15,000 persons congregated at the Tabernacle and the two buildings were not great enough to accommodate the throng.

CLEAR FIELD FOR BRYAN.

Ex-Governor Stone Thinks Tammany Will Follow Croker, In Support of the Nebraskan.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 16.—Governor William J. Stone had the following to say regarding the purported interview with Richard Croker, covered in a New York dispatch yesterday:

"If it is true," said the governor, "that Mr. Croker really favors the nomination of Mr. Bryan, Tammany will certainly follow him, and there will be practically no opposition to Mr. Bryan in the convention. The hearty cheers which greeted Governor Hogg's speech in New York, on the Fourth of July, would rather indicate that Mr. Bryan is not lacking supporters in the Tammany organization. With Tammany supporting him, there will be but very little opposition in the east to Mr. Bryan.

"A statement has been made and purporting to come from Mr. Croker to the effect that what he said complimentary of Mr. Bryan was not intended as an endorsement of his candidacy for the presidency, but merely for the purpose of paying a tribute to a deserving public man. Still, it may be that Mr. Croker sincerely thinks that the party could do no better than to nominate Mr. Bryan."

ALL DEMOCRATS WANT HARMONY.

Harrity Said Conservative Action by the National Convention Was Desired.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 16.—Former Democratic National Chairman William F. Harrity of this city, who has returned from Saratoga Springs, N. Y., when asked as to the reported political conferences of leading and representative Democrats now at that place, said he went with his family to Saratoga simply for a brief vacation. There were no conferences, but some informal talks, but as far as he knew, there were no discussion of candidates. Then he said in part:

"The uppermost thought in the minds of those whom I casually met there was the hope that the Democratic national convention of 1900 would pursue such a conservative course that all Democrats and citizens generally of independent tendencies might cordially and enthusiastically support the platform and the candidate. This disposition was manifested by those who believed in free coinage of silver as well as those who oppose it."

Failed to Float the Hooker.

MANILA, Aug. 16.—The United States warships Baltimore and Concord made an unsuccessful attempt to tow off the United States transport Hooker (formerly the Panama), which grounded in the north channel off Corregidor island a week ago. It is now believed to be impossible to float the Hooker.

HIS TREASON UNEEWARDED.

Mosetig Delivered Austrian Plans to a Man Who Didn't Pay Him.

VIENNA, Aug. 16.—Mosetig, the government official who was arrested here charged with stealing emergency mobilization plans and delivering them to a man named Ziboworski, who, it was alleged, communicated them to agents of France and Russia, had fully confessed.

Mosetig says he sold the plans to Ziboworski for 200 florins and Ziboworski fled without paying for them.

Murderer Failed to Suicide.

MIDDLEBURY, Vt., Aug. 16.—Fred Eastwood of Greenfield, N. J., who shot and instantly killed Frank Fenn, his brother-in-law, and attempted to murder Mrs. Eastwood, Mrs. Marietta Brown, Mrs. Frank Fenn and Edgar C. Brown, at East Middlebury, surrendered himself, but before doing so he attempted to commit suicide. He probably will recover. Mrs. Eastman's injuries are dangerous. Drink and family troubles are said to have led to the tragedy.

More Feuds In Kentucky.

LONDON, Ky., Aug. 16.—As matters now stand in Clay county, four feuds are looked for there instead of two as at present. The Benges and Stapletons of near Bengetown are preparing for war. One of the Stapletons was killed a few months ago by a Benge and feeling has been growing until an outbreak is looked for at any moment. On Red Bird creek, trouble has started between the Sizlores and Ashers, and both factions are carrying Winchesters.

Let Guerin Have His Choice.

PARIS, Aug. 16.—M. Waldeck-Rousseau conferred several times with M. Lepine, the prefect of police, and, in consideration of the fact that a recourse to force in the arrest of M. Guerin might lead to a useless sacrifice of life, entailing still graver demonstrations at the obsequies of the victims, the premier decided not to expose the life of any man, soldier, policeman or firemen, but to leave M. Guerin a choice between self-imprisonment and arrest.

EVENTS IN BRIEFS.

Whitecaps have been whipping negroes about Greenwood, S. C.

Eighteen more survivors of the Edmonton trail to the Klondike reached Edmonton, N. W. T. They reported ten deaths and much suffering.

The principals in the Perot abduction case reached an agreement in London, by which Mrs. Perot gives up the child to its grandfather of Baltimore. The United States government must approve before effective. Governor Lowndes cabled his approval.

San Domingon government authorities reported situation quieter.

Rioting between church opponents occurred in Londonderry and Belfast, Ireland.

By an explosion of gasoline in the cottage of Charles Bettew of Harrisburg, on the United Brethern campmeeting grounds, at Mt. Gretna, Mrs. William Miller of Harrisburg was probably fatally burned.

Fire at Westchester, N. Y., destroyed St. Peter's Episcopal church and most of its contents. Loss, $200,000.

FIVE NEW REGIMENTS.

More to Be Organized For Service In Philippines.

CAMPAIGN IN THE INTERIOR.

The Fighting to Be Carried Into the Interior of Luzon, Away From the Railroad—Large Number of Mules Sent For Transportation Purposes.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Secretary Root had long consultations with Adjutant General Corbin relative to the army, its strength, equipment and supplies, these being considered in connection with the statements that have been furnished by the heads of the different bureaus.

The question of enlisting and the selection of officers for additional volunteer regiments also was under consideration, but it was stated that no decision to call for more troops was considered. While it is said that five regiments will be organized the number has not been definitely determined upon.

The problem of transportation in the Philippines has been under consideration by the war department for some time. It is expected that at the end of the rainy season it will be necessary to move the troops some distance from the railroad, and at the present time the means of transportation are not sufficient for a large army and extensive operations. The difficulty has been met by sending mules to Manila in large numbers.

These mules will not only be used for transporting supplies in wagons, but it is intended to organize a pack train for carrying guns and equippments where teams cannot be utilized.

The indications are that the campaign after the rainy season is to be conducted not only along the railroad where General Otis has confined most of his operations, but that the interior of Luzon will be penetrated.

NEGROS AND CEBU IN A TURMOIL.

Insurrection Gaining Strength Remarkably In Those Islands—Property Destroyed In Negros.

MANILA, Aug. 12, via Hongkong, Aug. 16.—Arrivals and mail advices from Negros and Cebu agree that the insurrection is gaining strength remarkably in both those islands, which had hitherto been counted as the most friendly in the archipelago and which received with the greatest cordiality Prof. Schurman, president of the United States advisory commission for the Philippines, at the time of his memorable tour.

Outbreaks are feared, particularly in Cebu, where some of the leading men have gone over to the insurrection. Many of the wealthy inhabitants are preparing to leave the islands.

Senors Llorente and Melliza, supreme court justices from Negros and Cebu, have gone thither from Manila to use their influence against the insurrection.

The results of the autonomist government in Negros are disappointing. Insurgent bands are operating there, as they did in Cuba, destroying much plantation property, claims for which are being presented.

PRISONERS BADLY TREATED.

When San Isidro Was Captured, Sad News Was Secured of Gilmore and Others.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—A local paper published a startling story from the Philippines regarding Lieutenant Gilmore and the party from the Yorktown, who were captured by the Filipinos and who have been reported from official sources as being well cared for and well treated. It appeared that when the Americans reached San Isidro they found the names of the Yorktown men and some other prisoners scratched on the walls of the jail. Some letters from the men were found secreted under stones, and a Spaniard, who had been entrusted with several, presented them to General Lawton.

The letters told of the hardships the men were compelled to suffer and begged that aid be sent them. The men complained that they had been starved, beaten and bound, and, moreover, were in rags. One of the letters, signed by Albert Lowenshon, said that the Spaniards had been treated very badly, worse than the Americans, and that hundreds were dying of dysentery and other diseases, and that the government took no notice of sickness prevailing.

In his letter Lowenshon, who was formerly of the steamship Zealandia, gave the list of prisoners held by the Filipinos, as follows: Prisoners from Yorktown, J. C. Gilmore, U. S. N., W. Wilson, C. O. M.; P. Vaudovil, S. M. M.; W. Ellsworth, coxswain; S. Edwards, S. D.; S. Brisolose, O. G.; A. B. Pearson, apprentice; F. Anderson, landsman; captured at Baler April 11; A. D. Brice, E. Honneman, Nevada cavalry, captured Jan. 30; A. Bishop, Third artillery, April 12; H. H. Huber, hospital corps, and J. O'Brien, civilian, Jan. 27.

Senator Hayward Stricken.

OMAHA, Aug. 16.—Senator M. L. Hayward was stricken with apoplexy at Brownville, Neb., where he had gone to deliver an address at the Modern Woodmen picnic. He was apparently in good health and spirits up to the moment of attack. The doctors worked with him from a little after 11 o'clock, when he was stricken, until almost 2 before the senator recovered consciousness. He was then removed to a residence nearby, where he now is. The wife and son of the senator were summoned from Nebraska City. Later the senator became some weaker, and, while the doctors have not abandoned hope, they admit he is in a very precarious condition.

TOO SOON FOR ELECTIONS.

Root Advised to Not Grant the Cubans Right of Franchise For a Year.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—General Brooke will be called to Washington to consult with Secretary Root concerning affairs in Cuba.

Colonel Kennon of the Thirty-fourth infantry, recently appointed, but who has been on duty at Havana as assistant adjutant general, had a long conference with Secretary Root.

Colonel Kennon assured Secretary Root that the course which General Brooke was pursuing met with general approval, and was of that careful and conservative nature required by the conditions in the island. It was necessary to make radical changes, but the policy of the general has been to make the old fit the new with as little friction as possible.

As to the elections in Cuba Colonel Kennon told the secretary that he thought that the time was still somewhat distant when they could be held to advantage. By a provision in the peace treaty, the Spanish residents in the island were given one year from the date of exchange of ratifications in which to declare their preference as to citizenship. Elections could not be held, he said, until after the year elapsed in justice to this class.

Colonel Kennon said that the people of Cuba were fast coming to the conclusion that the interests of all would be best observed by these people accepting Cuban citizenship and by Spaniards and Cubans acting in harmony; and, while they do not mix well at present, the feeling of irritation is wearing away.

TO AID THE PORTO RICANS.

Governor Roosevelt Accepted the Chairmanship of a Committee.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—A committee the Merchants' association to co-operate with the Colonial Aid society for aiding Porto Ricans, formed before the recent hurricane, has been enlarged, in accordance with the suggestion of Secrerary of War Root, who favors effective committee organization in New York for assisting the Porto Ricans. Governor Roosevelt has accepted the chairmanship of the enlarged committee.

The subscriptions received by the Merchants' association now amount to $4,030. Clothing and medicines are very much needed. The Merchants' association has already sent down 14 cases of goods.

A Marine Has Yellow Fever.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Word was received at the navy department that a case of yellow fever had appeared among the marines engaged in guarding government property at Havana. Acting Secretary Allen decided to order the entire marine battalion away from Havana to a northerly point in the United States and to temporarily supply their places as watchmen with native immunes. The battalion will be brought to New York city on the first Ward line steamer leaving Havana, and will be put in strict quarantine at that port.

Arms For San Domingo Seized.

HAVANA, Aug. 16.—Lieut. Schaum, collector of customs at Baracoa, seized 143 carbines and 18,600 rounds of ammunition that was evidently intended for San Domingo. Twenty-five men, Cubans and Dominicans, arrived there. They have been kept under close watch, as they are apparently planning to take arms to Santo Domingo. The quantity already seized is not believed to be all that is secreted there. Major General Brooke is making every effort to check filibustering.

Deaths In Cuba.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Gen. Brooke cables the following death report in Cuba: Pinar del Rio, Aug. 12, Sergeant Charles R. Peck, B, First infantry, typhoid. Holguin, Malvin Arrington, I, Tenth cavalry, Aug. 10, pneumonia.

MUCH HOPE FOR LABORI.

May Be Able to Attend the Dreyfus Trial by Monday—Adjournment Was Asked.

RENNES, France, Aug. 16.—M. Labori was removed in an ambulance to the residence of Prof. Basch, in a suburb of Rennes. He stood the journey well, although naturally fatigued.

The doctors were extremely hopeful of a speedy recovery, but considered it would be unwise for him to return to court until there is absolutely no danger of a relapse.

M. Demange decided to ask for an adjournment, which necessitated a written application by both M. Demange and Captain Dreyfus, who have already sent letters to the president of the court-martial. Colonel Jouaust will undoubtedly accede to the request, but he cannot grant an adjournment for more than two days, when the application must be renewed. Captain Dreyfus wants the sessions postponed until Monday next, when it is hoped that M. Labori will be able to be present.

The correspondent of The Associated Press here obtained complete corroboration of the statement that Labori's coat was rifled while he was lying on the ground wounded. His coat was taken off and put on again. The pokets of his coat were emptied, it was discovered afterward, by Labori's wife. He asked her look and see. An attempt was made to steal the wallet in which were important papers referring to the court-martial, including his notes for the cross-examination of General Mercier, but M. Labori prevented it. M. Labori himself related the incident.

M. Labori, however, retained his presence of mind and refused to allow the wallet to be taken out of his hands, putting it under his head for a pillow and holding it with one hand.

The man who actually fired the shot, it, appears, was only one part of the machinery of the conspirators. In spite of the extensive search made for the wouldbe assassin he is still at large, and the impression is gaining ground that he is being aided by the anti-Dreyfus country people.

TO GREET THE TENTH.

President McKinley Will Visit Pittsburg.

WILL REACH THERE AUG. 27.

A Committee Consisting of Governor Stone, Robert Pitcairn and E. M. Bigelow Went to Plattsburg to See Him. Grand Military Review Scheduled.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 16.—A committee, consisting of Governor Stone of Pennsylvania, Robert Pitcairn and E. M. Bigelow of Pittsburg, arrived here to invite President McKinley to attend the reception to be tendered the Tenth Pennsylvania regiment in Pittsburg upon the return home from the Philippines, Aug. 28. The president accepted the invitation and will leave here Saturday evening, Aug. 26, arriving in Pittsburg Sunday evening, Aug. 27. There will be a review, and the entire state militia of Pennsylvania will be in Pittsburg on the occasion.

MIAMI'S NEW PRESIDENT.

Rev. Dr. David Stanton Tappan of Portsmouth Elected to Succeed Dr. Thompson.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 16.—The trustees of Miami university, at Oxford, O., met here and elected Rev. David Stanton Tappan, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Portsmouth, to succeed Dr. Thompson as president of the university. Dr. Thompson was recently elected president of Ohio State university at Columbus. Dr. Tappan's father and grandfather were noted educational workers and his mother was a sister of Edwin M. Stanton, secretary war under Lincoln.

Displeased With the President.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 16.—Prominent colored Masons of Ohio met in this city and expressed dissatisfaction concerning President McKinley's silence on the lynching question, and his refusal to commission colored officers. Prominent speakers were R. W. Tyler, Columbus; Charles Marshall, Cleveland; W. H. Parham, Cincinnati, and William Hunley, Toledo. They threatened to remain away from the polls in a body at the coming elections and appointed W. H. Parham to distribute an address to colored voters, setting forth the above complaint.

McLean Delegates Elected.

DAYTON, Aug. 16.—A convention, called by the county committee, was held in Beckel hall here and a McLean delegation elected to the Zanesville convention, the resolutions instructing them to vote for McLean first, last and all the time. The resolutions also endorsed Bryan and the Chicago platform. At the same time a rump convention was held in one corner of the same hall by the anti-Dowling crowd, and a contesting delegation chosen without instructions on governor.

Shot at Strike Sympathizers.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 16.—A massmeeting of strike sympathizers was held at South Brooklyn, which was attended by a turbulent crowd from the city. Against the protests of Bryan, the strike leader, the crowd stoned a Big Consolidated car. The conductor of the car lay down upon the seat and fired several shots at the crowd with a revolver. Nobody was hit, but the shooting had the effect of dispersing the mob in short order.

LIEUT. JOSEPH B. MORSE DEAD

His Wife a Daughter of President McKinley's Brother.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—General Otis reported the death of Second Lieutenant Joseph B. Morse, Ninth infantry of typhoid fever. Lieutenant Morse was appointed May 1, this year. He was in Manila at the time of his appointment and was chosen from the First California heavy artillery.

Lieutenant Morse was related by marriage to President McKinley. He married Miss Ida McKinley, daughter of David McKinley, the president's brother.

CANTON, China, Aug. 16.—Five hundred soldiers were surrounded at Cotkon, on the west river, by 10,000 robbers and a desperate fight occurred, ending in a victory for the robbers, who have hoisted their flags upon all commanding points and occupied the villages in the vicinity. Two hundred and fifty soldiers were killed and 100 wounded.

Two thousand more troops left Canton.

Mrs. Langtry Married Again.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Mrs. Lily Langtry, the actress, was married July 27, at the island of Jersey, to Hugo Gerald de Bathe, 28 years of age, the eldest son of Sir Henry Percival de Bathe, bart., a retired general and Crimean veteran. The ceremony was private, the only witness being Mrs. Langtry's daughter. The Prince of Wales sent them a telegram of congratulation.

A Clerk of Brooke Has Fever.

OUR BOYS IN LUZON.

ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER PRAISES THE AMERICAN SOLDIER.

Horse Racing In Manila While Troops Are Fighting In the Suburbs—The Ingenuity of the Tagalos In Building Intrenchments.

[Special Correspondence.]

MANILA, June 19.—Nothing has impressed me more powerfully than the panorama now unfolding itself in this great armed camp of the isle of Luzon. From the end of our south line at the village of Paranaque, actually half a dozen miles nearer Manila than Cavite, there came a few days ago signs that a hot fight was in progress. We could hear the rattle of musketry, the thunder roll of artillery, the bang, bang, bang, of the rapid fire guns, each round permanently making good Filipinos out of several insurgents, possibly also stilling forever the heart beat of some American soldier.

Meantime, during the hottest of the firing at Paranaque, when, on our north line, 40 miles away, General Lawton was also pushing the insurrectos desperately, here in Manila the horse races of the season took place as usual. The regulation track, the grand stand, the drinking bar tricked out with American flags, were all there, familiar to our sight as patent medicine advertisements. A native band, fortunately a considerable distance away, made alleged music. Spanish ladies, a few well dressed, and all of them bare headed in the pretty Manila fashion, sat in the seats of the grand stand as in the old days, flashing their dark eyes hither and thither and flirting silly little fans. But the prettiest women and those most handsomely dressed are Americans, always Americans. Hatchet faced jockeys in the same old red, yellow and purple satin togs that have seen better days darted in and out upon the scene and urged the stumpy little heathen ponies of the islands to the top of their speed, which, at risk of laming themselves for life or bursting a blood vessel, they can bring up to 2:14 or 2:16. People would go on just the same at the crack of doom, after they got used to it. And why not? There "mucho boom boom," here horse racing.

Each letter I write I say to myself, "Let us hope fervently that peace will descend in blessing on the Philippines ere this reaches my readers." Each week meantime new regiments arrive from the mighty States. There are near 40,000 American soldiers here now. Almost every morning men in blue and brown, fully accoutered for fight, their dog tents slung across their backs, their rifles upon their shoulders, battalion after battalion, swing through the town with the long, free step of the soldier and the white man, marching to the field, to victory or death, and victory in any case. Sometimes it will be a pack train of colossal mules from the States, with dashing western cowboy soldiers rounding the creatures up and guiding them in the way they should go, the boys whooping it up and yelling merrily as if they were on their own great plains. The very sight of those big mules, here where nearly everything is stunted and dried up and "ornery" looking, does the American eye good. Even the commissioners whom Aguinaldo sent to sue for peace with General Otis were of that same withered up, inferior little cut.

Two talents the natives here possess, and only two, so far as I can see. They have a quick ear for music and the imitative faculty in this direction remarkably developed. A good Tagalo musician can pick out upon his mandolin any air that may be hummed or whistled to him, and he remembers it afterward and can play it. One original Tagalo composition I have heard that is spirited and musical. It is the "Aguinaldo March," said to have been made all out of his own head by that leader's secretary. It is the rallying note of the rebel host, from head man to water carrier. The Filipinos in Manila play and whistle the march to themselves, but are shy of letting it be heard by the Americans, unless they are especially persuaded. We ought to have this march in the United States. It would be an acquisition to military bands.

The other Tagalo talent is the highly developed ability to weave by hand textile fabrics whatever may be put together by twining and crossing threads, fiber, bark and canes, such as baskets, mats, fences and huts. In this work the practice of ages has made them as skillful as a beaver in building its dam or a bird in weaving its nest. This skill crops out at one point where it was hardly to have been looked for. With the materials at their hand, Aguinaldo's natives are probably the cleverest constructors of intrenchments in the world.

The pictures illustrate. The Tagalo soldier drives a double row of stakes into the ground. The rows are a foot or more apart. The native then weaves in and out among them strips of bamboo, till he makes a double fence, hard to get through as the bottom of a cane seat chair. Between the rows he fills earth in, and the thing is done. It is as high as the Tagalo's head, breast high for the American soldier, and harder, far harder, to penetrate than a stone wall. The first illustration shows the outside of one of these intrenchments, the second the inside of the same. This woven wall is pierced with cunningly constructed loopholes, just large enough for the native shooter to look through and pick off with his Mauser the American soldiers one after another as they approach. Some of these native intrenchments are such marvels of skill and adaptability to the use for which they were intended that American military engineers have not hesitated to say they would be absolutely impossible to take, with a well conditioned army of white men behind them, instead of a horde of irresolute Malays.

The cunning of the wild man is shown as well in some of these defenses. Here and there are false intrenchments, looking from the outside like formidable works, but inside as hollow as the soul of the man who lives for himself alone. At Malolos, after the natives had fled therefrom, a remarkable specimen of this kind of humbug breastwork was found.

But no brown man, or red man, or black or yellow, can stand against the white man in this cycle of the world's history. I never was so entirely persuaded of that as I have been since spending these months in the orient. What has been we know not. Of what is to be we know still less. But this much is certain: This is the white man's age and the white man's hour. May he use it justly and well.

Neither is courage of a spurtish sort lacking to the Filipinos. They fight desperately for a little while, then are seized with panic and run. They always take with them on their retreats, if possible, the few Spanish prisoners who still remain in their hands. These they make slaves of and force them to do their menial work, thus turning the tables on the haughty Spaniard with a vengeance. When recently Aguinaldo was asked by a petition of foreign merchants in Manila to release Queen Christina's subjects who were still prisoners in his camp, he replied that he kissed their hands, but he couldn't do it. The Filipino war was a legacy that Spain had handed over to the Americans, and until these took the prisoners either by force of arms or treaty they were still his as much as if he were yet fighting against the old country.

In this wretched Filipino war there will be few large strategic movements or scientific campaigns over which learned military critics in newspaper and magazine offices at home may exploit their brilliancy. The strategy has been now to run down Aguinaldo and catch him, now to surround him and drive him in, both of which lines of policy have signally failed up to date.

It is in the story of individual exploits and regiments that the thrilling interest and romance of this war will lie. Each regiment ought to have its own history carefully written by some one who knows how to do it.

The battle of the Rio Grande, north of Manila, was one of the most important that has taken place here, notable because then and there the insurgents maintained their ground and allowed themselves to be fired at full 20 minutes before they began to run. It was a signal victory for us, yet the immediate success of the attack was owing to the pluck and skill of only two men. They belonged to the Kansas regiment.

The insurgents were on one side of the Rio Grande, the Americans on the other. To whip the insurgents it was necessary to get at them, and they had so damaged the bridge over the river that it was impossible to cross our little army on that. The insurrectos were pouring fire at us from their trenches. At this moment the two Kansas privates volunteered to swim the river under fire and take a rope with them, so as to start a ferry. They entered the water, drawing upon themselves the fire of all the Filipinos who saw them. The chance was not one in a hundred that the heroes would succeed. Yet they actually did swim that swift river under fire, carrying a heavy rope with them. Without a sign that they heeded the bullets raining around them they fastened the rope securely. On a raft thrown together at lightning express speed two companies of their comrades crossed and charged the intrenchments nearest, the rest of the troops following as rapidly as possible. It was then that the insurrectos made their 20 minutes' stand. But what could they do against troops like that? Talk of Dumas' four musketeers! Which of their imaginary exploits was finer than the act of these two modest American privates who made no fuss at all about it?

NOTABLE MEMORIALS

STATUES WHICH ATTRACT ATTENTION IN LINCOLN PARK, CHICAGO.

The German-Americans Propose to Add to the Monumental Group a Memorial of the Great German Poet, Goethe.

[Special Correspondence.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—With its cooling breezes from the lake and its shady and comfortable resting places a visit to Lincoln park on a summer afternoon is a delight. Perhaps its most attractive place is "Monument Circle," from which good views can be had of the principal statues which make this park one of the most famous in the country. I doubt if there is any park in the United States which contains so many statues of a really high artistic class as Lincoln park.

Among those which attract especial attention are the Lincoln monument, the Grant equestrian statue, statues of Shakespeare, Schiller, Robert Cavalier, De la Salle, Benjamin Franklin, Hans Christian Anderson and Beethoven. There are a number of ideal figures in bronze and stone, among the most notable being an equestrian statue of an Indian messenger and entitled "The Signal of Peace" and an Indian group entitled "The Alarm." The former is the work of C. E. Dallan, a young American artist, and is declared by Augustus St Gaudens to be the most artistic of all the statues which adorn these grounds.

To the already extensive group of memorials another will be added. It will be a statue of the great German poet Goethe, and will be erected by his countrymen in this city and vicinity. It is believed that a considerable sum for this purpose will be raised by the coming Goethe celebration. The matter is in the hands of the Schwaben verein, and it is planned to make this statue a companion monument to the Schiller statue now in Lincoln park, erected some years ago by the same society.

The design for the statue to be selected will probably be the handsome life size model submitted to the members of the Schwaben verein by Professor Edward Fuchs, a well known German sculptor of Chicago. It presents Goethe in a standing pose, the face that of middle age and clothed in the costume of the period. The facial likeness is by critics said to be perfect. The figure is to be life size, of bronze, resting on a pedestal of granite. The intention now is to have this statue in time for unveiling erected on Aug. 28, 1900.

But to return to the "Monument Circle" of the park. Unquestionably the finest of all the memorials is the colossal figure in bronze of President Lincoln. After having stood the test of critical observation for a dozen years it is today still regarded as one of the greatest triumphs among the many ambitious works of Augustus St. Gaudens, and, in fact, one of the greatest statues of modern creation.

The great emancipator is represented as standing in an attitude of meditation, advanced a step before a great bronze chair. The statue stands on a granite pedestal four feet in height in the center of a broad stone platform approached in front by a low flight of granite steps and surrounded on the other sides by a granite bench and balustrade.

People look at the Lincoln statue and say, "He struck the shackles from 8,000,000 slaves." Then upon the balustrade, carved in granite, they read the immortal words from the hero's Gettysburg oration, "With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on."

At the foot of the broad granite steps is a great sphere of granite, like an enormous cannon ball, on which is engraved the emancipation proclamation. The whole monument is art which communicates feelings of nobleness and goodness.

Let the man come from what part of earth he may, if he be rich in character, he can see the depth of soul in St Gaudens' figure of Lincoln and will be moved by it.

As for the Grant memorial, many regard it as the most imposing in Lincoln park. Nearly 100,000 persons throughout the country contributed the money for this popular monument. The art work itself is a heroic equestrian statue of the great captain, said to be the largest bronze figure ever cast in America. The horse and its rider rest upon a massive, arched granite foundation and pedestal, on a commanding site overlooking Lake Michigan.

PHILOSOPHY OF FASHION.

Food For Thought In Ever Changing Styles of Dress.

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—A publisher said recently that there was a new book published every five minutes. If that is so, there must be a new fashion or design in dresses evolved every second. There is food for the philosopher in that—in fact for two kinds of philosophers—those who like to trace effect to cause and those who pay the bills without grumbling. The latter is the more useful kind, and I think the philosopher who pays the bills in the true spirit is far more valuable to humanity than the others who go poking through the musty records of the past and try to fit them into the nineteenth century. Give me the philosopher who puts his hand into his pocket and pays a milliner's bill without a grimace, thankful that it is no bigger, and satisfied to bear that ill, so that greater ones may not fall upon him.

It is so hot today that one may be pardoned for digressions. I had intended to tell lots of things about other folk's clothes; but it is, as the French say, trop fort pour moi. Still, duty is duty, and I will take my stand upon that maxim and do my best. The heat is so great that the ink dries on my pen every short word, thus making the labor three times as great, to say nothing of the angry feelings thus engendered. In fact, I don't care whether anybody has any new clothes or not. So there!

Just think how one can lounge under the iron pier at Coney Island—Coney the great and only—and be cool and comfortable, or—or—be anywhere but just right here. Well, there was a lady who started off today for Newport with a whole trunk full of lovely things. I just hope the sun will fade them, the spray will spot them, the bushes will tear them and the damp air make them look like rags. I feel better now and will go on with my story.

Every day the largest and swellest establishments receive orders for supplementary gowns and wraps from ladies whose wardrobes were full and running over with beautiful and costly things when they went there only a few short weeks ago. Now they are crying for more. It is said that never in the history of Newport has there been so much fine dressing as there is this season. It is like May Irwin's song, "If you hasn't any (fine clothes), you needn't come around." White satin dresses covered with costly lace ruffles are worn in the street, cloth of gold and silver at the dinners and other grand affairs, and jewels by the barrelful.

In many cases it is not so much the richness of the material itself, but the elaborateness of the making. There was a foulard walking dress finished this week at a big house for Mrs. J. Townsend Burden. It was in three shades of blue—a sort of dusty gray blue foundation with vermicelli design in two much darker shades. The peculiarity consisted in the arrangement of the fullness of the skirt.

Almost all belts now, except the leather ones, are shaped somewhat in front. This is decidedly pretty and does not give one that cut off sort of look at the waist. Some belts are wide and some very narrow, but the buckles are works of real art. Mrs. Burden must have recovered all her stolen jewels, as it is said she outshines the sun when she "dresses up" for grand events.

One of the daintiest of all the summer styles is the pinafore or guimpe waist. The guimpe and sleeves fit closely and are of all over lace, with ruffles of other lace at the neck. These look and are delightfully cool. Organdie in dark blue or some other dark and almost solid color look the best made in this style. There are some dainty china and India silks made like this. The narrow belt is stiffened and covered with velvet and curved down in front. Chatelaine bags made of beading and of velvet or satin, handsomely embroidered and with fancy silver or gold clasps, are almost necessary to these costumes, made as they are without pockets.

Hats grow more and more like those of the first empire, and are correspondingly picturesque. Heart shaped brims are among the new ones. The poke, with high crown and wide strings, will surely be the leader for fall, as it is now seen in felt in all colors in the importing houses. But just now the dainty sunbonnet has the call for outdoor sports, and even for bathing, while the sailor, with its quill and white veil, is for everything.

A HEAVY TRAIN.

Pennsy's New Engine Hauls Forty-three Cars.

GENERAL RAILWAY NEWS.

Conductor Sorg Has a Painful Accident—To be Examined for Color Blindness—Steel Rails from the West—Columbian Notes.

The first of the new large Pennsylvania railway engines to pass through Massillon at the head of a train bowled eastward with forty-five heavily laden cars behind it Monday morning. Thirty loaded cars are about the limit for an ordinary engine. These engines are now being tested by the company, and if they prove a success will be put into general use on the road. They are much higher and longer than other engines, but are only a trifle wider. They are now of the compound kind.

An east bound train carrying steel rails passed through Massillon this morning. People about the station have seen hundreds of such trains go westward, but never before has one east bound been noticed. The rails were made by a new Chicago concern.

Conductor Sorg, of the local Pennsylvania coal train, sustained a painful injury Sunday. He was alighting from a car when a ring on one of the fingers of his left hand caught in a piece of iron. A portion of the finger was torn off.

The local employes of the Pennsylvania will take the examination for color blindness this week. The car is now in Allegheny, and is moving westward.

ORDER FOR TRANSFERRING.

Old Employes of the W. & L. E. and C., C. & S. to Serve Until October 1.

J. W. Wardwell, receiver and general manager of the Cleveland, Canton & Southern railroad, was the guest of his son, C. W. Wardwell, in Canton, on Saturday. Concerning the W. & L. E. and C., C. & S. situation Saturday night to a representative of the Canton Repository he said: "Contrary to expectations, the Cleveland, Canton & Southern railroad property will not be turned over to the Wheeling & Lake Erie people Sunday at midnight. The reason for this was that no judge of the United States court could be found in Cleveland Saturday to issue the order for the change. The matter being in the hands of this court makes it impossible for any action to be taken without an order. It happened that all the United States court judges were out of the city. One of them promised to be there at 9 o'clock, but failed to make an appearance. Attorney William Duncan was sent to Toledo after him, but I understand he could not be found. As soon as the order is issued President Blickensderfer, of the W. & L. E., will issue a circular which will say that all the present employes of the C., C & S. road will be retained until October 1, and that all those for whom permanent situations cannot be found, will be given due notice of the fact."

OTHER W. & L. E. AFFAIRS.

The C., C. & S. passed into the hands of the W. & L. E. today. Tomorrow the appointment of officials will go into effect. Agent Hansen was informed today that he would receive a circular of these this evening. Quite a number of promotions are expected.

The two roads together will be known as the W. & L. E. Railway Company. What is now the W. & L. E. will be known as the Toledo division, and the C., C. & S. will go under the name of the Cleveland division. The following appointments, it is safe to say, will be made: F. J. Stout to be general superintendent of all lines; J. N. Merwin to be superintendent of the Toledo division and T. H. Sheehan to the same office on the Cleveland division. C. A. Van Dusen will be trainmaster of the Toledo division. F. E. Bissell has been promoted to chief engineer, and C. C. Needham to general claim agent.

WHOLESALE VACCINATION.

It Includes Employes of the Pennsylvania and Their Families.

A general order for the vaccination of the employes of the Pennsylvania lines was recently issued by the company, which is far-reaching in its scope, as it takes in more than 100,000 men, besides their families. The new order is said to be the result of the present epidemic of smallpox in Pittsburg, and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is taking every precaution to guard against a spread of the disease in Pennsylvania and adjoining states through which the Pennsylvania lines pass All the employes and their families are expected to comply with the order, and the work will require several weeks The three surgeons operating in the Pittsburg district expect to vaccinate about 10,000 people, and the same work will be done at all points along the Pennsylvania lines. The surgeons find it impracticable to perform the work at an established point, and they will make a house to house canvass among the homes of the railroad employes, so that the vaccination may be made.

PEOPLE OF POSTOFFICE.

All of the Attaches Now Wearing Uniforms.

All the attaches of the Massillon postoffice, in line with those of New York, Chicago and large cities generally, are now uniformed. Heretofore only the carriers wore clothing of special color and design. No order from headquarters has been issued concerning uniforms; the Massillon postoffice people adopted them simply because they have a desire to be up-to-date. The postmaster's suit is somewhat different from those of Deputy Postmaster Brown and Messrs. J. F. Shepley, E. C. Sibila, Milo Alden and Charles Fox. Their uniforms are of dark blue, trimmed with black braid, with the letters, "U. S. P. O." In gold braid on the coat collar. The uniforms were manufactured by Fechheimer Brothers' Company, of Cincinnati, and they arrived this morning. The uniform of R. H. Gow, who will be a substitute mail carrier after Nov. 1, came with them.

WILL RUN EXCURSIONS.

Special Trains to Bring People to the Massillon Street Fair.

Mayor Wise received a letter from the officials of the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railway Company, in which it is stated that excursion trains will be run over their road while the Massillon street fair is in progress. The Norwalk special will arrive here at about 9:25 a. m., and will leave at about the same hour at night. Arrangements for a celebration and demonstration on Labor Day, which begins the fair week, are growing near completion. The Trades and Labor Assembly will co-operate with the fair association on that day. James Grant and L. J. Kerrigan, representing the Trades and Labor Assembly, will tomorrow visit New Philadelphia, Uhrichsville and Dennison to make preparations for bringing the various labor organizations of those cities to Massillon on Labor Day.

THE PICNIC ARRANGEMENTS.

Tickets for the Excursion to Wheeling Park Now on Sale.

Tickets for the excursion and picnic to be given next Saturday by Russell & Co.'s Employes' Mutual Benefit Association can be secured from the secretary, W. P. Fox, by making application to the foremen of the different departments of the works during the week. Ample table and chair accommodations are provided throughout Wheeling park for families desiring to serve dinner, as well as good hotel accommodations for those desiring to secure their meals on the grounds. A furnace for heating coffee free of charge is also provided. The park is one of one hundred and seventy-five acres, and contains a fine collection of animals and birds, with beautiful hillside lawns, swings, etc., for the amusement of the children.

THE BOYS' CHOIR.

A Large Congregation Hears it at St. Timothy's Church.

A large congregation enjoyed the music furnished by the boys' vested choir from Wheeling, W. Va., at St. Timothy's church on Sunday morning. The choir numbers forty members and is under the direction of Prof. P. R. Meyers. The large chancel of St. Timothy's church is particularly well adapted to accommodate a choir of this size and the excellent programme furnished was heard to its best advantage. The boys showed the effects of good training, particularly in the offertory, the "Gloria" from Mozart's twelfth mass. The service was conducted by the Rev. J. C. Hathaway, rector or St. Paul's church, Canton.

Who Will be Our Next President?

Politicians are now planning for the presidential campaign of 1900, but the war has so overshadowed all other matters that politics is almost unnoticed. Many people are of the opinion that the candidates will be the same as in 1896, but there may be a "dark horse" who will win the race. Popularity has much to do with candidates. This is also true with medicine. The most popular remedy today is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and it has retained this for many years. Science never discovered the equal of this medicine for stomach, liver and kidney diseases. It builds up solid flesh tissue, imparts vigor and vitality to all organs, and makes life worth living. A bottle will make a big change for the better. Try it.

GREEN CLOVER FOR MANURE.

Keep the Surface Covered With Some Growing Crop.

It is not often that any of the grain crops are plowed under as green manure, says the American Cultivator. They are worth too much to be turned under early in the season for any ordinary crop. Besides, the grain crops at this early stage of their growth have very little manurial value, and that only what they have taken from the soil. Rye is sometimes sown in the fall on corn or potato ground, mainly for the purpose of plowing it under as grass manure if another hoed crop is desired. The plowing can in such case be delayed until the middle of May, by which time the rye will be nearly ready to head. It must be plowed before the stalks appear, or else these will hold up the soil and make it too light and dry. The mass of green leaves plowed under just before the time for rye to head out will rot very quickly, and will help to increase moisture in the soil rather than to decrease it.

The only green manure that it pays to grow purposely for that use is clover. But it takes two full years to get the largest benefit from a crop of ordinary clover, and that is too long to wait. The crimson clover will grow more quickly, but it cannot be sown late in the fall and live through the winter in this latitude. If sown in the spring its seed is small and its early growth is so slow that it cannot be grown of sufficient size to be worth while even for the late spring crops. But we have seen young oats and barley plowed under when six to eight inches high as a preparation for late-planted hoed crops, when apparently there was sufficient benefit to the crop to repay the slight expense. It is better to have the ground covered thus than with weeds. The grain will at this early stage exhaust the soil very little. It will provide moisture for the crop, and its heating when turned under the furrow will make the soil warm and what mineral fertility it contains more available than the same soil that grew nothing but a few weeds. Keep the surface covered with some growing crop, either to be harvested and sold and fed, or to be used as green manure. There is great waste from washing away or blowing off of the surface of naked fallows, and any sort of a covering, if only for a few weeks, that will prevent this waste is better than none. For this reason it may sometimes pay to sow grains for green manure, even though the direct result from them may not more than repay their cost.

MUTTON CHOPS.

Sheep are good mortgage payers.

If the farm be weedy then get sheep.

Keep the sheep dry on the outside—but not inside.

Oilmeal and bran is the stuff to fatten the lambs.

Never try to winter a flock of sheep without a good supply of roots and vegetables.

If the ticks should go on the lambs, they should be dipped in some good sheep dip.

Catch an ailing lamb that won't eat and see if it is not teething—rub or cut its gums—so as to bring its teeth through.

Sheep never have been and never will be long worthless. Let us steer closer to the harbor of good mutton in the future, however.

When you want to lift a ewe, let one person put his arm about the neck, being careful not to choke it, and another going behind lift by the flanks with each hand. In this way no strain will be brought upon the stomach or the hinder parts. It is the only safe way to carry a ewe in lamb. It is the right way to carry every sheep. A hog may be carried in the same way lifting behind, but by the ears in front.

A Few Words on Spongy Curd.

All cheese makers are troubled with spongy curd, and there is no definite knowledge as to how it can be prevented. According to some recent experiments by F. J. Lloyd, of the Bath and West of England Agricultural Society, it appears that he has been able to define at least five different organisms which will bring about this condition in cheese. One of them produces the faecal taint so often found in curd, and three have been found in water polluted with sewage from dwelling-houses, or by the droppings of cows. As no ordinary amount of care on the part of milkers can prevent such organisms from coming into the milk when they have become lodged on the bodies of the cows, it is evident that one step to be taken is to prevent animals from drinking from streams in which they walk and the water of which becomes contaminated. Another very important point to be remembered with reference to the organisms which produce spongy curd is that they can be conveyed through the medium of poultry, as they have been found in the droppings of both cattle and fowls In view of this, Mr. Lloyd considers it desirable to prevent poultry coming nearer the dairy than is inevitable, nor should they be permitted to run about in close proximity to the milking utensils which, after cleaning, have been put out to dry. These organisms, as a rule, prevent the development of acidity of the curd, so that whenever they are present in the milk the cheese takes much longer to make than it would otherwise. A common belief among cheese makers that the salting of the curd checks the formation of acidity is described as being entirely erroneous.—American Agriculturist.

White Grub Pests.

Meadow lands infested with white grubs should be plowed and thoroughly cultivated in the fall, then planted to some crop that requires thorough cultivation in the fall, then planted to some crop that requires thorough cultivation the next season. The fall cultivation will destroy many of the insects which are then in a very tender stage in little earthen cells in the ground; and the thorough and frequent cultivation of the following crop will soon discourage the grubs.—Rural New Yorker.

Never give medicine in drinking water that is contained in a metallic vessel of any kind.

It is Incontrovertible!

The Editor of the "Christian Million," under the heading of General Notes, on August 20, 1896, wrote:—

"A good article will stand upon its own merits, and we may rely upon it that nothing will continue long which does not, in a more or less degree, harmonize with the statements which are published concerning it."

Mr. Hall Caine,

Author of "The Deemster," "The Manxman," "The Christian," etc., when speaking on "Criticism," recently, said:—

"When a thing that is advertised greatly is good it goes and goes permanently; when it is bad, it only goes for a while; the public finds it out."

The Proprietor of

has said over and over again:—

"It is a fallacy to imagine that anything will sell just because it is advertised. How many nostrums have been started with glare and snuffed out in gloom? The fact is, a man is not easily gulled a second time; and every dissatisfied purchaser does ten times more harm than one satisfied does good. Assuredly the sale of more than 6,000,000 boxes of BEECHAM'S PILLS per annum, after a public trial of half-a-century, is conclusive testimony of their popularity, superiority and proverbial worth."

Beecham's Pills have for many years been the popular family medicine wherever the English language is spoken, and they now stand without a rival. In boxes, 10 cents and 25 cents each, at all drug stores.

The columns of plate matter which appear daily in many of the Democratic newspapers, booming McLean and calling attention to what he has done for the party in past years, are an evidence that the latter's literary bureau is busily at work.

The Cleveland business men's committee, in taking stringent measures to break the boycott and arrest the dynamiters, will be sustained by the general public. Violators of civil rights will shortly learn that there is a limit to the power of anarchy.

The destitute Porto Ricans will soon receive practical evidences of what it means to call upon the sympathies of the people of the United States. One ship load of food is already on its way to them and contributions to fill another are rapidly piling in.

The President has decided not to attend the Dewey reception in New York because he wants Admiral Dewey to have all the honor on that occasion. It will be interesting to see what new tack the yellow newspapers will take now that they are deprived of their stock charge to the effect that Dewey was recalled from Manila simply to boom the administration.

Newspapers which have wasted a good deal of ink in trying to prove that the war in the Philippines is so unpopular as make it impossible to raise enough troops in the United States for its successful prosecution, have been strangely silent on this subject lately. The fact is that there are already more than enough recruits on hand to fill ten regiments and that recruiting is continuing rapidly.

If convincing proof was needed of the wickedness of the conspirators against Dreyfus, it has been furnished to an overwhelming degree by the attempted murder of Labori, chief counsel for the defense. What was expected to be the great card of the anti-Dreyfusites, General Mercier's testimony, has turned out to be an empty harangue, and the trend of public opinion now points more strongly than ever to the ultimate collapse of the case against the persecuted Jewish captain.

With Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, governor of New York, and Judge George K. Nash, the Republican nominee for governor of Ohio, to discuss national issues and expound the leading questions of the day in Akron on September 23, the fall campaign in Ohio will open under auspicious circumstances. Judge Nash is a veteran of the civil war, Colonel Roosevelt is one of the most popular heroes of the Spanish-American conflict, and both men are competent to speak authoritatively of existing conditions and the present political situation.

Commercial records for midsummer continue the gratifying history of the past half year. Europe is searching for wool in the United States at fifty cents and for pig iron at twenty dollars a ton. A vast demand for both materials has fallen upon the commercial world, and only this country appears able to meet it. Europeans are talking of wool famine, while we have on hand a year's consumption or more besides this year's clip, and prices are not yet as high as they were in February of last year, when stocks were many million pounds higher.

The Chicago Daily News says that the author of "The Man with the Hoe," would probably be a shade less pessimestic if he could come through the middle west and note for himself what a wild demand exists for men with hoes, or any agricultural implement at all. "The men who want the man with the hoe," says the News, "stand ready to give that individual very fair sums for his services, but cannot find him in this hour of need. He is, possibly, sitting on a bench somewhere, reading Mr. Markham's poem and realizing that he is too strong to labor."

American exporters have hitherto failed to fully recognize the vast opportunities presented by the colossal empire of Russia, with her millions of people and the undeveloped condition of her manufactures. H. H. D. Pierce, secretary of the United States embassy at St. Petersburg, in an interview the other day, expressed his opinion of the opportunities presented in Russia for the sale of American products. "American manufacturers," he said, "do not realize the vast opportunities which lie in Russia for the extension of their export trade. American goods are favorably regarded and their superiority is universally conceded, and Russia is disposed to foster the cordial relations existing between itself and the United States by removing all reasonable obstacles to the entrance and sale of American products."

THAT NAVARRE ROAD.

To the Editor of THE INDEPENDENT:

According to promises made not long since by Mr. Lynch, in the presence of the mayor and members of the council of the city of Massillon, he should have commenced work on the extension of the electric road to Navarre before this time, but to this date there are no signs of work being done. Engaging manners and smooth oily talk have had much to do in allowing this work to hang fire during these several years. But Mr. Lynch will now learn that suavity of manners and smooth oily talk will fall flat with Massillon people. What is wanted of him is to redeem his promises and fulfill his contract to complete the road to Navarre at the earliest date.

MASSILLONIAN.

KIPLING'S NEW POEM.

The London Morning Post has published a poem by Rudyard Kipling, entitled "Cruisers," describing them as daughters of the frigate, which "made play for her bully, the ship of the line." The following three stanzas are typical:

And when we have awakened the lust of the foe,
To draw him by flight to our bullies we go
Yet never so hasty that he is outrun,
And never so halting that we are undone.

Then lurching and lunging he followeth far,
With hail of long pieces our beauty to mar,
Till, 'ware of fresh smoke stealing nearer he flies,
And our bullies close in to make him good prize.

Anon we return, being gathered again,
Across the gray ridges all drabbled with rain,
Across the keen ridges all crisped and curled,
To join the long dance round the curve of the world.

The headquarters of the company will be in the Western Union Telegraph Company's office. Regular patrons of the Western Union Company and others will be provided with a connection with the lines. In case a messenger is needed for any purpose, one has but to turn a crank and he appears. It is but recently that the company has constructed lines in small towns.

WORD OF THE WIRES

Farmers Long Distance Telephone Service.

RIGHT OF WAY SECURED.

Manager Gordon Says Work Will be Commenced at Once—Bell Company May Have an Exchange at Street Fair—American District Company.

Manager Gordon, of the Farmers' Telephone Company, stated Tuesday that before the year is out his concern will give long distance telephone service to Massillon. Arrangements have just been completed with the United States Telephone Company, otherwise known as the Long Distance Independent Telephone Company of Ohio, H. S. Everett, the Cleveland street railway magnate, president, for the construction of a line from Cleveland to Massillon, thence to Canton and touching most of the cities hereabouts and on down to Columbus. This will afford the Farmers' Company with connections with all the principal points of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Michigan. Every mile of the right of-way has been secured, and the construction of the line will be commenced immediately.

TELEPHONES FOR STREET FAIR.

Local Manager Robinson, of the Central Union Telephone Company, is making a strong effort to have his company place telephones in the merchants' booths at the street fair and to have a switchboard and all other equipments of an exchange on exhibition, thus enabling citizens to gain an idea of the way connections are made, showing how much oftener failures are the fault of the man who rings or the man who is wanted than the operator's. Subscribers are wont to storm and rave at the exchange people every time things do not go to suit them, without stopping to consider that the man at the other end is as likely to be negligent as any other person or that he may not be within hearing distance of his telephone bell. The fair association is very desirous of securing this as one of the features of the carnival. The expense would be great, however, probably several hundred dollars, and it is doubtful if the people at the company's headquarters can be brought to see the matter in the same light as Massillonians.

AT WORK TODAY.

Linemen in the employ of the American District Telegraph Company began the construction of the lines today. The boxes will be located this week.

W. & L. E. APPOINTMENTS.

President and General Manager Blickensderfer yesterday issued the following circular announcing the appointment of officials for the new Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad Company:

In the traffic department, J. F. Townsend is appointed general freight and passenger agent, and E. B. Coolidge as assistant general freight and passenger agent. In a circular to foreign lines, all bills, etc., contracted to or for the C., C. & S. prior to midnight, August 13, are referred to the receivers of that road at Cleveland, while those contracted after that time should be made to and for the account of the W. & L. E. Railroad Company at Toledo.

Charles Van Dusen, of this city, formerly assistant trainmaster of the eastern division of the W. & L. E., has been appointed trainmaster of the Toledo division, with headquarters in Massillon.

An Outlet for West Lebanon Coal.

A Wooster special to the Canton News-Democrat says: "There is a well founded rumor afloat that the Ashland & Wooster Railway Company has made arrangements with the new management of the C., C. & S. Railway Company for an outlet for West Lebanon coal to Cleveland and the lakes, and that as the grading on the A. & W. is about completed from Jeromesville to Ashland, the company will at once take up the work of making the connection with the C., C. & S. Harry R. Smith, general manager of the road, was seen in regard to the above rumor, but would neither affirm nor deny it."

"One good turn deserves another." Those who have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla are glad to tell others about it.

DOXSEE-SCHUMACHER.

A Pretty Home Wedding in Prospect Street This Afternoon.

The marriage of Miss Belle Doxsee, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward D Doxsee, to Henry Schumacher, of Barberton, took place at one o'clock this afternoon at the Doxsee residence in Prospect street, in the presence of near relatives and a few intimate friends. The house was tastefully decorated with potted plants and cut flowers. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mrs. King, pastor of the Christian church at Barberton. The bride's gown was a dark brown broad cloth. Mr. and Mrs. Schumacher left during the afternoon for Cleveland. After a short trip they will go to housekeeping in Barberton, where a newly furnished house is in readiness for them. Mr. and Mrs. Schumacker, of Barberton, parents of the groom, were among the guests at the wedding.

Netted a Substantial Sum.

The benefit picnic for Joseph Weik, given by the Liederkranz Singing Society in Wendling's grove Sunday, was attended by Massillon, Canton and East Greenville people, and a substantial sum was realized. Mr. Weik recently lost a limb in an accident.

Result of the Autopsy.

A post mortem examination Saturday afternoon showed that the cause of William Uebernickel's death was peritonitis, brought on by appendicitis.

THE TWO LAKESIDES

Massillonians at Chippewa and Turkeyfoot.

THE HAPPENINGS IN CAMP.

Several Hundred People Visit the Canvas Homes of Their Friends—An Accident, a Theft, Baseball Game and a New Camp.

Hundreds of Massillonians sought Turkeyfoot pleasures Sunday. The wise carried their lunch with them, and most of those who did not went hungry, unless they were so fortunate as to become the guests of campers. The Keplers are able to accommodate but a small number of people, the greater part of whom are there all summer. At the Hotel Flory you can procure enough to eat if you send word early that you are coming, but a notice of ordinary length will yield nothing.

Wesley Yarger, of Uniontown, swung out over the lake with one of Mr. Flory's iron rings, Sunday. The ring came back without him. When Yarger was rescued from the lake he was bleeding from various wounds about the head and face, a shoulder was dislocated and one of the bones of his wrist was broken. He says he overestimated the strength of his arm.

An outline that regularly yielded Camp Focus, enough fish for breakfast, was found to be missing the other morning. Campers say that things movable are never safe unless they are watched.

A baseball game between teams captained by Higerd and Stanley Baltzly, of Massillon, resulted in a victory for the former, Sunday. Arrangements are now under way for a game between Massillon and Akron campers.

Sailing is becoming one of the popular sports of the lake. A stiff wind blew all day yesterday, and from morning till evening the water was dotted with the white canvas of the various craft. Some of the sails were improvised, though others were of boats built after the style of seagoing yachts.

The township's voting itself "wet" has converted the Kepler place of business from a fairly good thing into a gold mine. There are many times when the thirsty ones stand eight or ten deep in the small bar room, all clamoring to be served.

A number of Kendal boys arrived from Massillon yesterday morning, pitching their tents in the rear of those of Camp Tanglefoot, in whose domain Worley Bowsher, of Massillon, is monarch. Among the newcomers is Pitcher McAllister, who will be welcomed gladly by the baseball team of the Massillon campers

AT CHIPPEWA LAKE.

More than a hundred Massillonians yesterday visited Chippewa lake, where the Military band is now in camp. Drum Major Edward Ertle returned Sunday evening. The members of the band continue to enjoy themselves, and are regretful that this must be their last week.

COUNTY SEAT NEWS.

Massillon Man Petitions for Divorce from an Absent Wife.

CANTON, Aug. 14.—John Dwyer, of Massillon, has petitioned for a divorce from Jane Dwyer. Plaintiff is a glassblower, and formerly resided in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He left defendant and their children at that place, and came to Massillon, where he secured employment in Reed & Company's glass works, and in his absence supplied defendant continually with money for support of herself and children. In 1893, however, defendant left children in charge of a neighbor, and went to New York, where she still resides. Plaintiff had the children come to Massillon, where he is now supporting them. He alleges that the defendant will hold no communication with him whatever, and persists in willfully absenting herself, and therefore prays that they may be divorced. Willison & Day filed the petition.

Late Saturday afternoon Attorney Wm. J. Piero was arrested on a charge of embezzlement preferred by Anna Offalter, who alleges that defendant failed to turn over $378 rightfully belonging to her. Piero gave bond in the sum of $500 to appear in Justice Reigner's court next Thursday afternoon.

William Wagner and John Wagner, as trustees of the entailed estate of Joseph Meyers, deceased, have begun action against James P. Phillips, John G. Buss, William M. Hardgrove, August Purney and Eli H. Miller for $578 82.

Appraisement of ward's real estate and real estate bond have been ordered in the guardianship of Blanche Youngblood, of Massillon.

Petition for sale of real estate has been filed in the estate of Enos Whitmer, of Bethlehem township.

Jacob Eschliman has been appointed guardian of Edith M. Eberly, of Lawrence township.

Eli M. Whitmer has been appointed administrator, de bonis non, of the estate of Thomas J. Thirpe, of Bethlehem township.

Second partial account has been filed in the estate of John E. Johnson, of Tuscarawas township.

Canton School Board Rejects Supt. Wright's Recommendations.

CANTON, Aug. 16.—A clash occurred Tuesday evening between the board of education and A. O. Wright, recently elected superintendent of the public schools. Mr. Wright recommended a change in text books. Put to a vote, but one member favored his recommendation. The board afterward decided to make some changes, but, contrary to the superintendent's suggestion, adopted several text books published by the American Book Company.

Mrs. Henry Vogt is held at the police station, there being some doubt as to her sanity. Physicians will make an examination today, and if she is found to be infirm mentally, steps will be taken to remove her to the Massillon state hospital. Years ago Mrs. Vogt resided in Massillon.

Friday has again been chosen as the day for the matinee races at the fair grounds. Saturday had been chosen, but objections of business men caused the return to Friday.

In the guardianship of Blanche Youngblood, of Massillon, appraisement of real estate has been approved. Bond has been filed and approved and private sale of property ordered.

Final account has been filed in the estate of Mary Wenzinger, of Massillon.

Mayor Robertson has issued an order that boxing contests must be stopped in this city. The order says the boxing exhibitions recently given here have in reality been brutal prize fights. The police are instructed to arrest any persons attempting to fight and the proprietor of any building in which the bout takes place.

SHAUF AND WILSON.

They are Appointed by Secretary of State Kinney.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 14.—Secretary of State Kinney has straightened out the muddle in the Stark county board of elections by appointing the Republican members, the Democratic members having been appointed some time since on the recommendation of the county executive committee, as the law requires. The Republican county committee failed to perform that duty within the specified time, and, under the law, the secretary of state had the right to appoint to fill the places The secretary has appointed Captain Thomas Wilson, of Alliance, and George H. Shauf, of Massillon. Captain Wilson was appointed on the recommendation of the county central committee and Mr. Shauf on the recommendation of prominent Republicans.

WANTS TO WORK.

But the Law Says Helline is to Boss.

COMMISSIONER'S WOES.

Dangerous Places in Bridges Must Wait because all Carpenters are Busy and Because Mr. Helline was not Elected to Make Repairs.

Street Commissioner George Helline, having put his men and teams to work Wednesday morning, idled about the square, his industrious nature crying out for something to do. "I'd like to go over and fix the walks of those West Tremont street bridges," he said, "for there's bad places there, but, you see, I wouldn't dare. A howl would go up right away that I was trying to cheat somebody out of a job They say that I get paid for bossing and not for working, and they don't want me to do a thing Why, if I so much as raise a pick or shovel for a short time I hear of it I could do that work at the bridges as well as anybody, but it's my duty to look up a carpenter I can't find any, so it'll have to wait I guess by Monday, though, they'll be fixed"

"There's no happy dream business about this street commissioner job," he continued "They keep pulling this way and that and you never know where you are at Now they are talking of cutting me down to one team. Then it'll be worse than ever If they'd just let a fellow go, things would go better Then all kinds of people are hollering at you An ignorant fellow asks why the city doesn't keep that part of the streets between the street car rails clean It isn't my business, so I'm told I know I get called down for cleaning between the rails. I am told that the street railway company must do this They have got to keep things in order between the rails and for eighteen inches on either side All these things make a fellow tired, and I don't think you'll find my name on the ticket when you elect another street commissioner"

Rough Riders in Earnest Regarding Their Road Race.

Street fair preparations have revived the spirits of some half a dozen Rough Riders, and the much talked of and long forgotten road race is again the subject of discussion. They say that as the town is to have a series of events during the week of the carnival, nothing more interesting than a ten or twenty-mile road race could be arranged. In their opinion the entries should be open only to those who have never ridden in a race. A committee has been appointed to look after the matter, and if general encouragement is secured, the event is assured

WALKER WINS IT.

Ex-Soldiers Indorse Him for Postmaster.

RECEIVES 54 OF 59 VOTES.

Candidates E. P. Edgar and John Ellis Send Word to the Veterans that They do not Care to Participate in the Proceedings.

About sixty soldiers responded to the call recently issued by T. H Seaman, H. F. Oehler, Fred Shauf, J. H Hunt, Dr. T C Miller and R. A. Pinn, assembling in the mayor's court room Tuesday evening. The purpose of the meeting was to decide who should be given their indorsement for the position of postmaster, for which there are a number of known candidates, three of whom are ex-soldiers. It was stated that little good would result from indorsing the three, but that the veterans must agree on one The three are E. P. Edgar, John Ellis and J M. Walker. J. K. Merwin, who is also an ex-soldier, has said that he will be a candidate when the proper time comes. No names were announced at the meeting.

City Clerk T. H Seaman presided over the meeting, and Dr. Pease acted as secretary. The chairman stated the object of the meeting. Dr. T. C. Miller thereupon moved that it be considered inexpedient to make an indorsement at that time. The motion was voted down.

At this juncture a communication addressed to the chairman of the meeting was delivered It was handed in at the hall door, and was passed from man to man until it finally reached the chair. It contained the following, with a request that it be read to the meeting

'On account of conditions and circumstances which have come to our notice, we do not care to take part in the proceedings of the meeting called or ask our friends to do the same

"E P Edgar,
"John Ellis"

Something of a stir was created by the note. The chairman stated that he had pledged his support to one of the candidates whose signature appeared in the communication, which he felt was meant as a release. It was so regarded by most of the others

The ballot was then taken, resulting as follows Walker, 54, Ellis, 3, Edgar, 1 Merwin, 1. The meeting adjourned with the understanding that a copy of the minutes should be forwarded to Congressman Tayler.

J K. Merwin stated today that his name was not brought up at the meeting with his knowledge or consent

NATURAL GAS.

Notice to the Citizens of Massillon.

In order to introduce into all homes in the city of Massillon, in the shortest possible time, the use of natural gas The East Ohio Gas Company will give a discount from the present fixed rates of five cents for each one thousand cubic feet of gas used for domestic purposes during the year commencing July 1st, 1899, and ending July 1st, 1900. As the company is making all house connections at actual cost of materials and labor, it believes that this saving in the price of gas will go largely towards the expense of piping the houses, and will give the company the advantage of having every citizen (even the poorest) as a consumer, thus affording to all the best and cheapest fuel. To encourage the use of gas by manufacturers special rates will be given on application at the office.

UNIQUE NOTRE DAME.

A UNIVERSITY WHICH IS IN ITSELF A MUNICIPALITY.

Institution Started In the Wilderness, With Only Indians as the Founders' Neighbors—It Never Had a Dollar of Endowment.

[Special Correspondence.]

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Aug 8.—There is no municipality in the United States quite like Notre Dame. It is purely a college town, and but for the University of Notre Dame it would have no place on the map or in the postal directory. Its local government is by, for and of the university. The college grounds are a mile square, and there are within these limits no buildings except those connected with the university.

There are 30 buildings altogether, the largest of which is 322 feet long by 155 feet wide and seven stories high. Counting St. Mary's academy, there are close to 2,000 persons living in this little town during the school year all under the jurisdiction of the college authorities, and, excepting members of the faculty, none are allowed to leave the college boundaries without permission from the prefect of discipline. In this respect Notre Dame is like a large military camp.

There is a large shoe shop, a carpenter shop, blacksmith shop, tin shop, tailor shop and undertaking establishment, which are controlled entirely by the college community. There is a large truck farm that supplies the vegetables needed, and a bakery that furnishes bread for the entire community. There is a cold storage house with all the latest improvements, and connected with it a meat market.

There is also an electric light plant and gas works. In addition there is a printing establishment that employs 50 hands and publishes The Ave Maria, one of the largest Catholic publications in the country. All students live at the university and take their meals in two large refectories, each of which has a seating capacity of 700 persons.

In case of illness there is a hospital under the charge of sisters, where the system of nursing is excellent. There is nothing to take a student from the university grounds from one year's end to another, as far as the necessaries of life are concerned. The postoffice building is near the entrance to the college grounds, and does almost as large business as that in the neighboring city of South Bend, which is 1½ miles distant.

It is doubtful if there is a university in this country which was founded under more adverse conditions and nourished by devoted men with greater self sacrifice than Notre Dame. It has not received an endowment in all its history.

The institution was founded by Rev Father Edward Sorin and six other priests of the Congregation of the Holy Cross from the city of Nant, in France. Owing to the poverty of his order Father Sorin and his companions, in crossing the Atlantic, had to avail themselves of the cheap rates of the steerage. Indiana at that time was a border state, and the priests were 25 days on their way from New York to the scene of their future labors.

The only building of any kind in the clearing where Notre Dame was located was a little house of unshaped logs built years before by Fathers Petit and Badin and used by them in their ministerings to the spiritual wants of the Pottawattomies.

The first winter was hard. The following extract, written shortly after his arrival, is taken from Father Sorin's diary. "I have not yet seen my poor Indians. They have gone hunting, not being aware of my arrival. Lately one of our good brothers had his foot frozen and another one his toes, and I had just 50 cents, sufficient perhaps to permit me to show that I was not altogether insensible to their sufferings. We have just one bed, and they insist that I shall take it. They themselves sleep on the floor. Tomorrow I shall give up my room to be used as a workshop."

Surely a university was never founded in the face of greater poverty and privations. A limitless expanse of wilderness a log hut built by unskilled Indians, through the gaping crevices of which the snows swept inward, rising in unwelcome heaps on the humble cots of the occupants—a young priest with a few brothers, literally without staff, scrip or money—this was Notre Dame in 1842.

The original grant of land on which the first college building was erected was found insufficient for the growing needs of the institution, and from time to time new purchases were made. The community reclaimed hundreds of acres of malaria infected swamp land, fixed the indefinite tracts of flag and sedge into forests of oak and maple and made the barren sand dunes fit for cultivation.

FRED R. FORBES.

A LOVER'S FAREWELL.

Goodby forever, my darling,
Dear to me even now,
Though I give you back your promise
And release you from your vow.
I have learned that the love I sought for
Had been given away before,
And I know that love in your nature
Is "love forever more."
Yet I wish you had not answered
In words so tender and fair,
For I could have borne it better,
Though it had been hard to bear,
If you had but told me truly
That your heart was given for aye,
I should not have known the sorrow
That crushes my heart today.

Yet, why should I weakly blame you
For the thoughts in my bosom hid?
'Twas my own fond heart that led me
To love you as I did.
And now I must hide my sorrow,
As I hid my hope before,
And put it away in silence—
To be spoken of no more.
For since I know I possess not
The love that had been such prize,
Shall I wait till my idol crumbles
To ashes before my eyes?
No! Rather farewell forever,
And long may the lovelight shine
On the fairer part you have chosen—
It will beam no more on mine.

Better if death had robbed me,
For then I could love you still.
Your memory would have nerved me
To work with a stronger will.
Now is my dream but a sorrow,
And my heart hath a sense of shame,
Remembering the empty promise
And the love that was only a name—
Remembering the flowers of joy
That brought a fruition of pain,
And the bliss that I held for an hour
I held it and lost it again.
I embarked my soul's best treasure
To drift on a boundless sea;
I have gathered life's fairest blossoms—
There will come no fruit to me.

A SOLEMN OCCASION.

The Only Interview Buchanan Had With His Vice President.

Vice President Stevenson used to tell a story which John C. Breckinridge had told him to illustrate the traditional relations between the president and the man whose principle business it is to wait for the possible death of the president, in order that he may take the president's chair.

Breckinridge said that Buchanan never consulted him about any important matter, although as a Kentuckian, having the confidence of most of the southern leaders, he felt that his advice might at times have been valuable to the president. In the early fall of 1860, when Buchanan's term was nearing an end, amid the gathering clouds of war, Vice President Breckinridge received an urgent summons to the White House. He responded at once, thinking that at last the president wanted his advice on the momentous questions then pending. When he arrived he was shown into the president's room, and Mr. Buchanan, who was alone, called his private secretary and instructed him to see that they were not disturbed by anybody during the important conference which was to follow.

When the private secretary had withdrawn, the president unlocked the private drawer in his desk, took out a manuscript, sat down with great solemnity, and said to Vice President Breckinridge, in his most impressive manner, "I want to read you the draft of my Thanksgiving day proclamation and to get your opinion of it."

The vice president controlled his facial muscles, listened respectfully and seriously made some complimentary remarks about the important document, and, with his customary courtesy, bowed and smiled his way out from the only interview to which he was ever invited by President Buchanan.—Boston Herald.

He Worked the Grocer.

A true story of a dog found guilty of obtaining goods under false pretenses has been recently told. The animal is very fond of crackers, and has been taught by his owner to go after them himself, carrying a written order in his mouth. Day after day he appeared at the grocer's, bringing his master's orders for crackers until the clerks became careless about reading the document. One day the man came in and complained that he had been charged for much more crackers than he had ordered. There was quite a dispute over it, and the next time the dog came in the grocer took the trouble to look at the paper. It was blank; and further investigation showed that whenever the dog felt a craving for crackers he hunted up a piece of paper and trotted off to the grocery store.—Atlanta Constitution.

Begging Letters For the Rich.

A lady living less than a day's journey from New York had the curiosity the other day to make certain calculations in order to see how large a part of her property she would have had to sacrifice had she granted all the requests made for money within a period of 42 days. She kept all the begging letters received during that time, added together the amounts they asked for and then discovered that had she granted each individual request for money she would have disbursed $1,600,000. And this, be it remembered, in a short period of six weeks.—Harper's Bazar.

Our Big Guns.

The largest projectile for the 13 inch the largest gun mounted on the warships of the United States navy, is 3½ feet long and weighs 1,100 pounds. The projectile travels 30 feet before it leaves the muzzle of the gun, and in that distance is set revolving at the speed of 75 revolutions per second. The rifling inside of the gun consists of 52 spiral grooves, cut one-twentieth of an inch deep at the bore.

PRESSED STEEL CARS.

ONE OF PITTSBURG'S MOST NOTABLE INDUSTRIAL ENTERPRISES.

A Comparatively New Device In Railroad Rolling Stock Which Effects a Great Saving In the Handling of Bulk Freight.

[Special Correspondence.]

PITTSBURG, Aug. 7.—Even the most casual observer must have noted in recent years the 100,000 pound capacity pressed steel cars, of what is known as the hopper type, for coal, coke and iron ore, which are becoming more and more in evidence in the freight trains of the country.

This car, which is of comparatively recent origin, has practically effected a revolution in the carrying of bulk freight, and it is rapidly replacing the old obsolescent wooden cars, so long used for carrying this class of freight. It was evolved by Charles T. Schoen.

The main reason for the rapid and continuous growth of the demand for the steel car is found in the necessity for increased economy in the transportation of freight. One of the best understood principles of railroad economy is that of moving the greatest quantity or tonnage of freight in the fewest number of cars possible, which obviously means a minimum number of trains, and the pressed steel car seems to have solved the problem. Five years ago the light weight of cars for bulk freight averaged 50 per cent of the total weight of car when loaded. In other words, such a car had no capacity for paying freight beyond its own weight.

The first road to adopt pressed steel cars of large capacity was the Pittsburg, Bessemer and Lake Erie, which operates from and near Pittsburg to points on Lake Erie. This road, all of whose freight is practically coal to the lake and iron ore from the lake to Pittsburg, was in a position to easily demonstrate the great value of the pressed steel car, and it did this to the satisfaction of pretty nearly every railroad man in the country the first year the cars were used by practically doubling train mile earnings over those of the previous maximum before earned in this country, and this, too, at a lower rate per ton per mile than was ever before charged for the same class of freight.

Here was a most practical and complete demonstration of the value of the pressed steel car, and it logically resulted in a demand for such cars, which has created one of the most important industries that this city or even the country possesses. From a business 30 months ago that employed fewer than 1,000 hands and had a capacity of but a few cars each day there has grown a business employing 10,000 men, having a product of something above 100 cars per day, and the end is not yet in sight. In fact, judging from the record that such cars are making for themselves and the consequent demand from railroads everywhere it would seem as if the business were in its infancy, enormous though it certainly is today.

The pressed steel car is built of steel, pressed into theoretically correct shapes, strength and utility considered. In a train of, say, 80 cars of 100,000 pounds capacity each, there is a saving in train length of above 500 feet over that required for the same load in wooden cars. This fact alone gives numerous and important economies, among which may be mentioned: Reduced rail friction and atmospheric resistance, reduced empty car movement, reduced switching service, reduced payment of car mileage and cost of inspection, reduced number of all car parts, and increase in the traffic capacity of sidings, terminals—in fact, the entire road.

PRESSED STEEL CAR.

The Schoen pressed steel car is responsible for "the present economical movement of freight, which is," to quote Engineering News, "one of the greatest wonders that nineteenth century engineering has accomplished."

Among American railroads using the Schoen cars are: Pittsburg, Bessemer and Lake Erie railroad, Baltimore and Ohio, Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern, Pennsylvania railroad, Pennsylvania lines, Pittsburg and Lake Erie, Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railway, Pittsburg and Western, Lake Superior and Ishpeming, Great Northern, Chicago, Lake Shore and Eastern, Lehigh Valley, Philadelphia and Reading and numberless roads employing 200 cars or less.

The Pressed Steel Car company employs, with the completion of the plant at McKees Rocks—the fourth great plant owned and operated by this company—above 10,000 men, and this means that above 40,000 men, women and children are dependent upon it for a livelihood.

When one stops to consider the men employed by and the families dependent upon that branch of the Carnegie Steel company, engaged in supplying more than 1,000 tons of steel plates per day to the Pressed Steel Car company, one gains some idea of the vastness of this industry and its importance to Pittsburg.

THE FARM

Pigeons will not eat too much salt if it be kept before them at all times.

Good stone fountains kept thoroughly clean are best for drinking vessels.

Early shearing is best—more wool, more sheep and not so much bone and ticks.

Never leave any feed in the trough. To do their best pigs must come to each feed hungry.

For cleansing udders before milking there is nothing superior to a piece of gunny (coffee) sack.

Have you sowed that corn to keep up the milk flow when the pastures are short and dry next fall?

Hogs seem to need salt, but to give them a quantity when they are unused to it will often prove fatal.

Keep nests well dusted with insect powder while pigeons are incubating and the squabs will not be covered with lice as soon as hatched.

Every change of the weather affects cows to some extent, and they will fall off in flow of milk whenever their quarters are uncomfortable.

The best way to learn why butter does not come, or why it isn't nice when it does come, is to use a dairy thermometer and gumption.

Never give calves grain in any form until they begin to chew their cud. Many are permanently injured by too early feeding of strong food.

Pull the weeds out of the strawberry rows by hand, while the ground is damp and soft, which will facilitate picking the berries from the vines.

A cow can be kept from switching her tail while being milked by an inch rope thrown before her hips and around her tail—the two ends of the rope tied together.

The cow that leaks milk may be helped by touching the end of the leaky teat with collidion each time after milking. This dries quickly and draws the orifice tightly together.

It is said that sulphur applied to the shoulders of horses that have collar boils will cause boils to disappear. It is better, however, to prevent sore shoulders by having well-fitting collars.

When the clover pasture begins to get tough so it is not readily eaten by the hogs, change them to another lot and run the mower over it. A new and tender growth will soon take its place.

Constipation prevalent among swine is a cause of slow growth, and ought to be guarded against by the careful observer. Feed fruits, vegetables, green food, a little oil meal or other laxative foods.

Kindness to stock, being right in itself, pays in dollars and cents. A successful breeder of driving horses says his success has been very largely due to the fact that he never allows a blow or a cross word in the stableyard or pasture.

We must grind our feed to get the fullest benefit therefrom. It may not be in every case, however, that the added profit will pay for the grinding. Though there be not much actual value in the corncob, its coarseness compels the animal to renew its food, insuring better digestion than when the grain is fed only.

BETTER THAN BLIND-BOARDS.

A More Humane Device That Should Take Their Place.

It is inhuman to put blind-boards, hopples and other constructions upon cattle that are given to jumping fences. These heavy affairs fret the animal and impair growth and production. They often also endanger the animal's life. A simple and human device is shown in the illustration, which may be used for both cattle and horses. It is simply a light piece of rope arranged upon the animal's head as a halter, then passed between the forelegs and around the body, when it is fastened securely. It should be arranged so that the animal can just raise its head to a natural position, but no further. To jump over a fence an animal must always raise its head above the normal position. If there appears danger that the animal when feeding may get a forefoot over the rope it can be held up close to the breast by a light cord passing around the neck. The rope will stretch somewhat with use, but can be shortened up as required.—New York Tribune.

Small Fruit.

Something is wrong when strawberries cost consumers in New York and New England cities from ten to fifteen cents per quart while the producer in Jersey and on the Delaware peninsula only nets from two to four cents per basket. It does seem as though this condition of affairs went from bad to worse as the years roll on. The more perishable the fruit the greater seems to be the cost of handling and selling it. Hammonton Co-operative Association has done what it could to reduce freight charges and commission exactions, and also to distribute its fruit to the best advantage, yet its members receive but a modicum of the price consumers pay for fruit. This subject is a vital one to farmers, truckers and fruit growers all over the country, but is especially important to those who raise perishable stuff for market. We are eager to improve existing methods but it does not yet seem clear what is the best and most practical method of doing this, in the absence of a comprehensive system of co-operative stores through which consumers could be reached direct.

BRISTLES.

Quick maturity means good pay for feed and care.

Give good hogs a dry, warm shelter. It is profitable as well as humane.

Never leave any food in the trough. To do their best pigs must come to each feed hungry.

Hogs seem to need salt, but to give them a quantity when they are unused to it will often prove fatal.

Scrub hogs do not look well on a good dairy farm. It is too bad to waste good milk on such stock when full bloods are so easy to get.

Fall pigs should not be littered before October or November—August and September are too hot. Hence breed the sows in June or early in July.

Don't sell the best pigs if you are going to increase your stock of breeders. However, sell all if your swine have not constitution, vigor, vitality and plenty of hard, flinty bone. Then buy where you can be sure of getting these things.

If you have got that choice boar pig be sure he is well fed and grown. What costs $10 may be made easily worth $50 by right treatment. Next spring's stock may be reckoned on more than ever if the parents this year, and especially the sire, be well bred and reared.

A fall pig is much better than none at all.

Watch for parasites. Their presence will retard the growth of the pigs and make older stock thin. To destroy these pests put a little kerosene in some lard, to scent it strongly, and as the pigs are standing at the trough drip a little on each from ears to tail. After seven days repeat, to destroy the new brood which may have hatched meantime.

A Bug That Is Death to the Potato Bugs.

There's a cure for everything, and at last a cure has been found for the potato bug.

That red, persistent and gregarious creature has for years and years shortened the lives and the potato crops of farmers all over the country.

Paris green, in powder and in solution, scattered with a blower, or showered from sprinkling pot, has not been able to prevail against him. He has kept right on eating the tops off the crops, and, in some years, has raised the price of potatoes to an almost prohibitive notch.

But now, in the State of Indiana, at the smart town of Johnstown, has been found another bug, whose bright particular business in life is to smite the ring-streaked and pestiferous potato bug, hip and thigh, and never leave him nor forsake him until he is dead.

It is a green bug, and its triumph over the potato bug will make glad the heart of every Irishman who eats "murphies" and sings the old song of "the green above the red."

Deadly Battle of the Potato Bug and Its Enemy.

This farm reformer is diamond-shaped, and is equipped with a long and fabulously sharp beak, with which he penetrates the marks of the potato bug on sight. He does not do this because he wants all the potatoes himself. As yet he has shown no inclination to do damage to crops of any kind. His favorite diet is the blood of the potato bug and on that he thrives.

Hoosiers all over Indiana State have thronged to Johnstown to secure these commendable bugs, and transfer them to long suffering potato patches.

Already the benefits of this bug-eating bug's efforts have been made manifest. The potato bugs seem to know intuitively of the presence of their small, but active enemy, and when these long-billed diamond-backs put in an appearance in a potato patch, the potato bugs, in a body, rise up and migrate to some other garden, with all the agitation and headlong haste that deadly terror can inspire.

There are gold bugs and silver bugs, but to the poor man this is the most welcome bug that has ever been discovered in this land of the free.

Conflicting Opinions.

At a recent meeting of the Maritime Cheese Makers' Association a paper was read on the Babcock test, saying that the great pooling system puts a premium on the quantity of milk, while the Babcock test puts a premium on rich milk, and when the cheese maker gets rich milk he can make better cheese. The pooling system begets bad results.

On the other hand, at the annual meeting of the Amherst Co-operative Creamery Association some of the leading speakers put themselves directly in opposition to the spirit of the age, and the best scientific information obtainable. Mr. Bancroft, president of the Ellington creamery, says that the Babcock test exists only for the purpose of selling the Babcock machines. Mr. Sabine, of Amherst, did not think it advisable to use the Babcock machine in a creamery, and claimed that the use of it did not tend to keep patrons more honest.

The remarks of these gentlemen are very surprising in view of the information which the best authorities are promulgating. Neither of them would probably assume to know more about the subject than Dr. Lindsay, for instance, of the Agricultural College and Experimental Station. His bulletin on the Babcock test against the space system, published by the dairy bureaus, show, conclusively, that there is a great difference between the space and the percentage of butter fat in cream. As Dr. Lindsay says, the space system, though simple in execution, is so inaccurate that it should be replaced by one that will mete out a greater amount of justice to all. When some farmers receive from three to twelve dollars more per month than is actually due them, and other farmers correspondingly less, it would seem wise to adopt a system which would secure a more equitable division of the proceeds.—New England Farmer

POULTRY

Fresh earth in the poultry quarters or scratching and dusting is indispensable.

A liberal feeding of pure wheat tends to help egg production. Noon is a good time to feed it.

The surest way to avoid inbreeding is to make it a rule never to keep a male from your own flock.

To make the most profit out of ducks some one of the larger breeds, like Pekin or Rouen, must be kept.

Fowls running at large in an orchard do much good in the destruction of larvae, worms, beetles and bugs.

If a dozen hens are selected from the best flock every year and used as breeders a good improvement can readily be made.

As a general rule fowls of two years old make the best breeders. They should not be sold until others can take their places.

Poultry should be fed three times a day, giving at each meal all that is eaten up clean of a sufficient variety to keep them with a good appetite.

Overfed fowls will not pay well, and in cases of the largest breed especially they are more liable to apoplexy. Feed only enough to keep them hefty.

Large turkeys will excel in weight, but the smaller, fat, plump turkeys sell at a higher price per pound. The quality and condition are prime factors.

Poultry can be produced and maintained at a less cost than can sheep or swine, and the meat of poultry is much healthier for consumption than is swine meat. The time was when poultry was looked on as a very small business, but many have found it the most paying business of any for meat production.

Good Crop Prospects.

It is a cheering feature of the business outlook that the crop prospects are excellent. Rains have been abundant. Even in sections of the country usually given over to drought the precipitation has recently been ample for the farmers' needs. In the Northwest no such season has been known for twenty years, and the production of wheat there is now expected to be very large during the present year. The danger, if any, is that the rains have been excessive. In North Dakota the wheat crop is possibly injured by the over abundant downfall, but any shortage in that quarter will, it is thought, be more than made good by the exceptional yield in the region immediately south of that State. Kansas, happily, is to have this year a good wheat crop to compensate it for the failures of past seasons. As Kansas is but one of many large wheat-producing States, all of which hope for like good fortune, it will be seen that the situation is a cheering one. It means larger exports, larger imports and a more active foreign and domestic trade. What it means for the railroads may be gathered from the fact that a good wheat crop in a limited area in the Northwest during the past year added some $5,000,000 to the gross earnings of a single road. Fortunately the life-giving rains have not been restricted to the wheat-growing regions of the Northwest. The Southwest has promise of one of the biggest crops of cotton ever produced. With an excellent outlook for good crops in all directions a better feeling may be expected all round. The period of depression may pass away with a redundant harvest.

Beautify the Lawn.

The object of plants and flowers is to beautify, and the lover of a well-appointed lawn and grounds will make no mistake if he allows them to beautify even the common-place objects about the home. A trim yard of wire netting furnishes a most excellent trellis for vines, while being at the same time ornamented by them. Such a netting fence affords an excellent place for the growing of many kinds of grapes, while the shade thus afforded will be most grateful to the inmates of the yard during hot weather. Carrying the "utility" idea still further, one might mention the hop vine as most suitable to train around a doorway. If one is trying to make his grounds look well it is certainly wise to avail one's self of this easy way to lend beauty, and even a useful beauty, to what might otherwise be an unattractive object.—American Gardening.

White Clover

There is no plant which is not an absolute weed that keeps its hold in the soil so pertinaciously as white clover. If it were not so valuable for feed it would become a very bad weed, and, indeed, it is such to strawberry beds, as many growers can testify. White propagates not only by seed, but by runners, as the strawberry does. It is one of the surest plants to seed that we have, and the young plants will not be killed by smothering with the larger grass plants, as many weeds will. It often happens when grass is cut so that it does not start quickly that a mass of white clover will start up and soon show blossoms. This clover was hidden under the grass while the latter was growing, and only began to be noticed when the grass was removed.—American cultivator.

Public Land in the United States.

According to the American Agriculturist there are still nearly 600,000,000 acres of vacant public land in the United States. The bulk of this is in the semiarid region, where much of it can never be brought into cultivation, even if systems of irrigation are greatly extended. In addition to this public land belonging to the Federal Government, some of the States, notably Texas, possess considerable land of their own. The vacant public land in the various States is about as follows, stated in round millions of acres: Alabama, ½ Arizona, 55; Arkansas, 4; California, 45; Colorado, 40; Florida, 2; Idaho, 46, Kansas, 1; Louisiana, 1; Michigan, 1 Minnesota, 5; Mississippi, 1; Missouri 1; Montana, 72; Nebraska, 11; Nevada, 62; New Mexico, 58; North Dakota, 22 Oklahoma, 7; Oregon, 38; South Dakota, 14; Utah, 41; Washington, 19 Wisconsin, 1; Wyoming, 50.

Little Pimples Turn to Cancer.

Cancer often results from an impurity in the blood, inherited from generations back. Few people are entirely free from some taint in the blood, and it is impossible to tell when it will break out in the form of dreaded Cancer. What has appeared to be a mere pimple or scratch has developed into the most malignant Cancer.

"I had a severe Cancer which was at first only a few blotches, that I thought would soon pass away. I was treated by several able physicians, but in spite of their efforts the Cancer spread until my condition became alarming. After many months of treatment and growing steadily worse, I decided to try S. S. S. which was so strongly recommended. The first bottle produced an improvement. I continued the medicine, and in four months the last little scab dropped off. Ten years have elapsed, and not a sign of the disease has returned."

R. F. WILLIAMS, Gillsburg, Miss.

It is dangerous to experiment with Cancer. The disease is beyond the skill of physicians. S. S. S. is the only cure, because it is the only remedy which goes deep enough to reach Cancer.

THE GARDEN

Keep Planting.

A garden is valuable in proportion to what it yields, but no one in ten produces one-fourth of what it ought to. A succession of planting should be kept up until the first of September. Beets, radishes, beans and corn should be planted weekly and in small quantities. This will keep the ground all occupied, and the garden will present as attractive an appearance in September as it did in July. There should never be idle ground in the garden. Wherever there is room to plant anything, plant it. Radishes do not do well in the extreme hot weather, but a short row of beans may be planted as often as once a week. If there is nothing else to occupy the ground, sow spinach. If this is not wanted for the table, it serves an excellent purpose as a fertilizer. By all means keep the ground well covered.

Large Radish Seed.

Large radish seed germinate more quickly and with more certainty than small seed. The plants mature sooner and more uniformly. This is the conclusion of a great number of tests reported by B. T. Galloway in Agricultural Science. It is certainly an important practical point for gardeners and truckers, for the value of the radish crop depends almost entirely upon a quick growth of marketable roots. Those who are raising radish seed this season might make a bit by screening the seed and charging an extra price for large seed.

Grapevine Caterpillars.

The caterpillars which destroy your grape leaves are the larvae of the grapevine flea-beetle. Early in the season an application of paris green, in the proportion of one pound to 150 gallons of water, sprayed on the vines, will kill the insect in a short time. Later on, when the bunches are near maturity, this may be objectionable. The pyrethrum or insect powder dusted on the leaves is to be recommended. —William Dinkelakey.

The Busy Bee.

All the beeman has to do now is to furnish supers filled with sections prepared with starters of foundation. If any one has several colonies, he will find his hands full to attend to them and hive swarms that may issue from time to time. The sooner a super is removed after being filled, the whiter the honey will be, and, of course, the more salable.

If the queen's wings are not clipped, care should be taken that no swarm be allowed to hang any great length of time after issuing. As soon as they cluster, which they will generally do before leaving, they send out runners or scouts to hunt up a new home. If soon found the swarm will push out immediately without the recognition of their master's will or desire in the case. Promptness in hiving may save the swarm.

If the honey flow has begun, the proper time to put on supers will be easily seen by the cells being filled with honey and the combs having assumed a whitish appearance, by small patches or little bits of new wax attached to them. Then there is little risk of putting on supers filled with sections. It is well if the apiarist has any unfinished sections of last year, or even those whose foundation has been drawn into cells, to put several of these in every super as a bait to draw the bees from the brood chamber to the super and induce them to begin working.

While a strong colony may be induced to begin operations in the super by pursuing the aforesaid method, and the apiarist be filled with pleasing anticipations of well-filled sections, out may come a swarm and his vision of happiness be turned into misery.

The old method of procedure was to hive the swarm in a new box and put it in a new place, leaving the old colony on the old stand. Of course the old colony is depleted and but few bees remain. Operations at once cease in the surplus receptacles and will remain so until replenished by the young progeny. Before this condition can be attained, if the honey flow is short, it will all be over and no surplus secured. To obviate all this it is better to place the new swarm on the old stand and remove the old colony to a new locality. Take the super with its partially filled sections from the old colony and give it to the new. Being placed on the old stand, all the workers having their course established will return to it. This will add strength to the new colony and it will go on building comb in the body of the hive and working at the same time in the super. This course not only gives honey, but it takes the swarming fever out of the old colony that is so depleted of bees that it will scarcely ever cast a second swarm.

If queens are desired they can be easily obtained by opening the old hive examining the combs and cutting out all the queen cells but one. These can be hatched out in nuclei, or small hives of two or three frames each. A few queens on hand in the fall come very handy to take the place of old ones or those that prove inferior.—William Ballantine, Mansfield, O.

Importance of More Nutritive Fodder.

Prof. Lindsey, of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, questions the wisdom of a system of farming in which labor is devoted to securing meadow hay for feeding to farm animals. The large amount of grain necessary to be fed in order to secure reasonably nutritive rations calls for a considerable outlay of money which renders the various rations of doubtful economy.

The tendency of modern dairy farming is to raise crops containing more nitrogenous matter (protein), and thus reduce the amount of grain to be purchased. To farmers who have been gathering and feeding large quantities of meadow hay he makes the following suggestions:

In addition to English hay, raise annual crops, such as peas and oats, vetch and oats and Hungarian grass. Cut these for hay. Grow corn fodder and soja bean fodder, and put into a silo in the proportion of two parts corn to one part soja beans. Such a system will give large amounts of nutritious winter feed, and will enable one to get along with one-half of the grain feed mentioned above.
